

Integrated Team Care - Indigenous Health Program - Indigenous Outreach Worker

Northern Australia Primary Health Limited

Indigenous Health Program

Indigenous Outreach Worker - Indigenous specified position

Do you want to make a difference in your community?

Northern Australia Primary Health Limited's (NAPHL) as the lead for the ITC consortium has a mission to improve health outcomes by meeting demand through partnerships and innovation. NAPHL promotes the health and wellbeing of people living within Northern Queensland, prioritising people with the highest need.

We are currently seeking applications from motivated people to compliment the Integrated Team Care Program in the Mackay region.

What's on Offer?

- Generous salary packaging benefits up to $16,000.
- Supports professional development
- Culturally supportive work culture with flexible work options
- Be part of a team that understands the community and consumer and focuses on delivering value.

The role of Indigenous Health Workers

The work of Outreach Workers should be tailored to meet the needs of the communities which they are supporting. This work could include:

- Distributing information/resources to communities about services that are available to/for them, and encouraging them to use primary health care services in their region;
- Encouraging and supporting Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to attend appointments with GPs, including health assessments and care planning;
- Assisting Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to travel to and from appointments;
- Providing support for outreach/visiting health professionals where required;
- Distributing information to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people about how to access available services.

Outreach Workers must identify as Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander and have strong links with the community in which they work and possess effective communication skills.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are encouraged to apply.

Applications should be sent to recruitment@naphl.com.au and include the following:

- Current Resume
- Covering letter detailing your experience to support the relevant role
- Evidence of qualifications

Applications should be sent to recruitment@naphl.com.au